“ Alfredo aka “Freddy” and I are first cousins and every time we’d see each other we would settle down to catch-up in conversations to discuss family, work, politics, and whatever else rose to the occasion. I will never forget in December 1992 the year my father passed, Alfredo and other first cousins assured me if there was anything I needed, just let them know, Since that day and throughout the years, Freddy never hesitated to ask “how I was doing including my son and/or siblings and if everything was alright?” While I never had to come to him for help, I was always grateful for his caring soul, his sense of humor, and for his dedication to family. Rest now Freddy...you fought a good fight.

“ I will always be grateful for his compassion and kindness. When my mother passed, Alfredo made a point to keep checking up on my siblings and I. He will always be a giant of a man in my eyes. RIP!

“ Poppa Small was the kind of man who made hard work look easy and everyone around him feel welcome. Well into his eighties, his cheerful spirit never wavered. He had a rare gift... no matter who you were, he made you feel like family. I count it among life's great honors to have called him my father-in-law. He will be greatly missed.
