“ To the family of Mr Hugh R. Luces in your time of mourning:

I received word of the passing of Mr Hugh R. Luces with great sorrow quote recently, from another friend who had also been posted to the Embassy in Washington, DC, and was profoundly saddened by the news.

Mr Luces often seemed to be a special version of the Superman plot come to life: he was a mild-mannered Clark Kent most of the time but would transform himself into Superman as the occasion required. He was cheerful, respectful, helpful, and kind; faithful, dedicated, experienced and innovative. A family man of many years, he was a stable, reliable source of strength to many, as well as a good counselor and friend to a broad spectrum of family, friends, and acquaintances.

He and his dear wife, Lady Yvonne who, I have learned, has also passed on, were a happy, loving, and lively couple. They made a memorable and lasting impact at our Embassy events and a sterling contribution in the wider Diaspora.

I extend my profound, fraternal condolences to the Luces family and to the wider family of Embassy staff who, like myself, had the privilege of working closely with Hugh, and getting to know him well. May the finest memories of our time with him serve to ease the pain of our collective bereavement, as God's grace brings us healing over time. May he rest in peace and rise in glory.

P. Byam

Ambassador

...but more importantly, friend and former colleague
