“ Egbon, you are no longer with us but I cannot forget the good examples you left behind as a straight forward ward man who bear no malice. I am short of words. I know you are resting with the Lord. GOOD NIGHT.

“ We work at the same company when we just got to USA. He was such a wonderful big uncle to me. He would always encourage me, tell me things would get better. He still kept in touch even when we all found different career path.
May his soul rest in peace and may the family he left behind find solace and comfort in God.

“ Segun was loved by many people that he met during his journey in life. He was so humble and gentle that it was easy for him to relate with a lot of people that were older and richer than him. He had genuine love for his hometown, Ijebu Egboro and he was always ready to do anything for the town. His love for his family made him travelled as a full adult to make sure that they could have a better life. I never knew the sickness could end his life at that prime age. May the Lord takes care of his wife and all his children. I will miss our regular talks. Sunre o Asere Gbangba. From your good friend, Pastor Tope Omole

Life's but a walking shadow ....

Segun, you came and quickly disappeared. Yes, man is born to die but yours still remain a mystery. You were not only a friend but a brother and comforter. Your last statement to me I'll hold on to dearly. You will be sorely missed. Rest in peace.

Brother Segun I still find it very hard to comprehend that you are gone. Memory of us being together back then in London kept on flashing since your demise. All my friends that met you through me couldn't believe your sudden death. We are all still in shock, I kept on checking your pictures on FB on daily basis. You are such a kind hearted giver, your empathy, love for people can never be contested. Egbon as I used to call you. I am missing you already & you will be surely missed. Omo Asere ma se ka, rest in the bosom of the lord till we meet to part no more. Rest on Egbon mi.
